BEST NEW NOVELS FOR THE SUMMER

JUST PUBLISHED

BROTHERS of PERIL

By THEODORE ROBERTS

Author of "HEMMING THE ADVENTURER"

A most delightful love theme, charming bits of Nature description, exciting adventure and originality, are the features of Mr. Roberts' new volume which deals with Colonial days in old Newfoundland.

BROODING WILD

By RIDGWELL CULLUM

Author of "THE HOUND FROM THE NORTH," Etc.

An absorbing drama of the frozen North, notable for its broad conception of elemental character, its realistic descriptions of nature, and the intense excitement of its action.

READY EARLY IN JULY

CAMERON of LOCHIEL

Translated from the French of Philippe Aubert de Gaspé

By Prof. CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS

An interesting and valuable romance dealing with the struggle for the possession of Canada, written with patriotic devotion to the French Canadians and their romantic and heroic past.

Each one volume, library 12mo, decorative cover, illustrated in color, cloth, $1.50

THE PLUM TREE

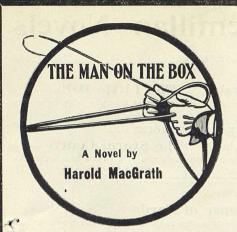

"'The Plum Tree' raises David Graham Phillips out of the crowd for good and all. It is written with power and skill and with a masterly understanding of the devious working of the human conscience. And it forms an impressive and timely commentary on a subject that should be of supreme interest to every good citizen of the United States."-New York Times.

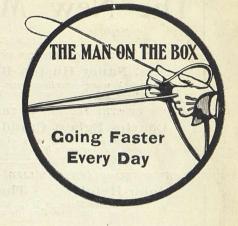

By David Graham Phillips Author of "The Cost," "Golden Fleece," Etc.

PLUM TREE

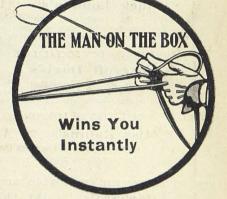

Exceptional Illustrations by E. M. ASHE Bound in Cloth. 12mo. Price, $1,50

The Bobbs-Merrill Company Publishers, Indianapolis The Man on the Box, a Novel by Harold MacGrath. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, $1.50.

The New Macmillan Novels

PUBLISHED NEXT WEEK

A RESTFUL NOVEL OF THE "OLDFIELD" TYPE

Mrs. Nancy Huston Banks's The Little Hills

A book whose pervading charm, suggestive of shady fragrant Kentucky roads, in no way weakens the forcefulness beneath it. Ready next week. Cloth, $1.50.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE PROPHET OF THE GREAT SMOKY MOUNTAINS"

Charles Egbert Craddock's The Storm Centre

A sweet natural love story of the times when the strain of civil war was tightening around the Tennessee hills.

Ready next week. Cloth, $1.50.

A SIGNIFICANT NOVEL OF AMERICAN LIFE

John Heigh's The House of Cards

This sometime Major of U. S. V. has given us "an uncommonly interesting and 'human's story," says the New York Evening Post.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE CALL OF THE WILD," ETC.

Jack London's The Game

"It is told with such a glow of imaginative illusion, with such intense dramatic vigor, with such effective audacity of phrase, that it almost seems as if . . . the events are actually happening before the reader."—New York Herald.

Illustrated in color. Cloth, $1.50.

A NOVEL OF WASHINGTON SOCIAL LIFE

Foxcroft Davis's Mrs. Darrell Second Edition

One leading Washington daily calls this an "immensely interesting book." The evidence its author gives of first-hand knowledge of its scenes is causing a most interesting discussion as to the identity of Foxcroft Davis.

Illustrated. Cloth, $1.50.

A NOVEL OF SOCIAL LIFE IN LONDON

Miss Robins's A Dark Lantern

By the author of "The Open Question," "The Magnetic North," etc. Cloth, $1.50. "In strength, in originality, in emotional force, it is far out of the common," says the New York Times.

A NEW NOVEL BY "THE COMMUTER'S WIFE"

Barbara's At the Sign of the Fox

A novel of the same delightful type as "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife," now in its eleventh edition.

Ready in July. Cloth, $1.50.

A NEW NOVEL BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE COMMON LOT"

Robert Herrick's Memoirs of an American Citizen

This is attracting attention in the Saturday Evening Post as by far the best thing he has yet done and the strongest in its appeal to the popular interest.

With over 50 illustrations. Ready in July. Cloth, $1.50.

A NEW NOVEL BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE FOREST LOVERS"

Maurice Hewlett's The Fool Errant

The book recalls his earlier story so radiant with freshness and the beauty of nature that the forest seemed a part of the tale itself rather than its background. Cloth, $1.50.

Probably ready in July.

NOTES IN SEASON.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just issued "The Book of the Automobile," by R. T. Sloss, a practical volume devoted to the history, construction, use and care of motor cars and to the subject of motoring in this country. The volume is fully illustrated and has an introduction by Dave H. Morris, president of the Automobile Club of America.

a volume of "Sketches New and Old," by Mark Twain, in binding uniform with the volumes previously published in their trade edition. This collection contains sixty-six sketches in all, numbering among them some of the earlier ones that first made the fame of Mark Twain. Among the titles are "The Jumping Frog," "Curing a Cold," "The Membranous Croup," "Riley—Newspaper Correspondent," and the sad stories of the good and the bad little boys.

L. C. Page & Co. have just published Theo-Roberts's new story, "Brothers of Peril," a direct, swinging tale of love and adventure among the now extinct Beothic Indians of old Newfoundland; also, "In the Brooding Wild," by Ridgwell Cullum, a story of the "frozen North." They will publish and in the story of the "frozen North." lish early in July an interesting romance dealing with the struggle for the possession of Canada, entitled "Cameron of Lochiel," by Philippe Aubert de Gaspé," translated from the French by Professor Charles G. D. Rob-

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING Co., Akron, O., have just ready a new novel by Headon Hill, entitled "Millions of Mischief," taking its title from Shakespeare's "Julius Cæsar, Act IV., scene I-"and some that smile have in their hearts, I fear, millions of mischief. The novel deals with an imaginary revolt in the British Cabinet, the plot being by no means an impossibility in this age of political degeneracy. The material is well handled and the reader's attention is easily held to the unexpected climax. They also announce an interesting story of New England life, entitled "Dolly," by Ruth Louise Sheldon.

Brentano's are about to issue an American edition of "The House of Sin," translated from the French of Marcelle Tinayre by A. Smyth. T. P.'s Weekly, of London, says of this book: "This is the title of the last and most remarkable book of the writer who signs herself 'Marcelle Tinayre.' She is by no means unknown, (one of her books has had the honor of being crowned by the French Academy,) but she has hitherto never reached anything like the level of her present worka work which places her among the half dozen foremost living novelists. For this is not merely a remarkable but a great book."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish next week "The Little Hills," by Mrs. Nancy Huston Banks, a restful novel of the "Oldfield" type, suggestive of shady, fragrant Kentucky roads; also, "The Storm Center," by Charles Egbert Craddock, (Miss Murfree,) a love story of the times when the strain of civil war was tightening around the Tennessee hills. They have begun the publication of illustrated pocket editions of the novels of Dickens and Thackeray, printed on India paper. The volumes now ready are "Pickwick" and "Oliver Twist," and "Vanity Fair" and Pendennis." The text is reprinted from the first editions, with all of the original illustrations and facsimiles of the wrappers endeared to the readers who read the masterpieces of the two great Victorian nov-HARPER & BROTHERS have just brought out I elists as they issued from the press.

A Japanese idyll. Himé, a shell-gatherer, child of the open air and the sea, knowing nothing of scrrow and responsibility save the care of her old foster mother, sees a handsome foreigner rowing towards the shore on a moonlight night. He is singing and unconsciously her voice answers his; and thus they are brought together. The stranger is Charles Barrington, an Englishman travelling in Japan. Later it is discovered that Himé is the deserted daughter of an Englishman and his Japanese wife, and, yet more wonderful, that her father is the uncle of Charles Barrington; so all is made smooth for the happy ending of her love story as well as that of Barrington's Japanese tutor.

Mr. and Mrs. Crombie, of Boston, who have bought a place in New Hampshire in order to escape the distractions of summer shore resorts, are overwhelmed by the announcement of a week's visit from a niece, known to hold "opinions" and to be following a "career." The advent of the girl also brings upon the scene a young Englishman, her declared lover, whom, it seems, she wishes to try against a domestic background. An old student friend of the nost also appears with his wife to turnish the object lesson in the pitiable results of the mating of incompatible temperaments. The story is an analytical study of the working of the modern masculine and feminine mind under the influence of love.

The larger portion of this book consists of a brief account of each of Chopin's compositions, arranged according to opus numbers, its relative place, distinguising features and according to distinguishing features, and an epitome of the comments or criticisms that have been made upon it by great writers, critics, biographers and virtuosi who have written about Chopin. There is also an introductory sketch of the musician's life and a glance at various aspects of his life and works. The author believes such a work will be of use to music lovers believes such a work will be of use to music lovers who have become more familiar with Chopin's com-positions since the pianola has increased opportun-ities for hearing the most difficult kinds of music.

Miss McCaul, with the sanction of Queen Alexandra and the permission of the Japanese government, left England in March, 1904, accompanied by Miss Elaine St. Aubyn; commissioned to inspect the work of the Red Cross Society of Japan. This account of her mission in diary form describes their experiences during two months in Japan and with the army in Manchuria. The war office fitted out a party for their escort and made every possible arrangement for comfort and entertainment. Incidentally, there are many glimpses here given of native life and famous men and women of the new Japan.

The opening chapters deal with the history of modern Belgium and the part that country has played in European politics. Then follows an explanation of the causes which led to the annexation by Belgium of the Congo Free State. The Arab slave trade is described and a full account is given of what Belgian rule has accomplished as a civilizing and Christianizing agent. The work is written designedly to refute the charges in circulation of cruelty and oppression by the Belgian government, and the viewpoint of the author is continental rather than English. English.

Dr. Maxwell is a French lawyer, Deputy-Attorney-General of the Court of Appeals at Bordeaux, and has taken also the degree of Doctor of Medicine. This book is the result of ten years of psychical research. His investigations have convinced him that certain unexplained phenomena, reported in all ages and conditions of culture, do occur. Such phenomand conditions of culture, do occur. Such phenomena as table-moving, rappings, crystal-gazing, luminous phenomena, etc., are described with special observations recorded of the medium Eusapia Paladino.

Dr. Maxwell "does not give a minute account of all the details, nor does he relate the precautions taken, nor seek to convince hostile critics that he has overlooked no possibility and made no mistakes," but states that he has done his best to test the phe-nomena for himself and here sets down the facts as observed.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 17, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the Publishers' Weekly solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the Publishers' Weekly is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

A QUESTIONED POINT OF COPY-RIGHT LAW.

ONE happy result of the Copyright Conference and the proposed codification of copyright law will doubtless be to clear the law from its present confusions and dubious points, and to free the copyright proprietor from the possible forfeiture of his copyright because of non-compliance with technical, and, in some cases, trivial formalities. It will be a great boon to authors, and scarcely less to publishers, when this result is accomplished.

An illustration of this class of difficulty in the present law is afforded by the litigation between the Merriam Company as complainants and the United Dictionary Company and George W. Ogilvie as defendants in the case of the reprint of what is known in this country as "Webster's High School Dictionary," by the photographic reproduction of the same book from the English edition published by George Bell & Sons, London, under the title of "Webster's Brief International Dictionary," which title is employed in the American reprint. Both parties have joined in a statement of facts to the effect that the book in question was simultaneously published and copyrighted August 9 1892, in this country and in England; that the complainants have not themselves published or sold the book in England, but granted to George Bell & Sons a license under the English copyright to publish and sell in Great Britain, with express proviso that they should not sell or export the book to the United States. The American copyright notice was omitted in the English edition with the consent of the complainants. The complainants state that the English licensees have not directly or indirectly exported or sold the book in the United States, and that the defendants themselves imported into this country the copy from which the reprint is made. The sole question presented for decision, it is agreed on both sides, is whether the failure to insert in books published abroad the copyright notice required by the United States copyright law works the forfeiture of the United States copyright, notwithstanding an exact compliance with the statute in regard to all books published or sold in the United States.

There is a decision in the Federal courts, (American Press Association v. Daily Story Publishing Co., 120 Fed. Rep., 766,) that when a copyright notice was omitted without the consent of the copyright proprietor that did not vitiate the copyright. This referred to a work published in this country, and it would seem that the rule would apply possibly with even more force to an edition published extra-territorially. But in the dictionary case it is admitted that on the English edition the American copyright notice was omitted with the consent of the complainants, and this point is emphasized by the defendants.

It seems to have been the general practice of American publishers selling rights in England to provide, or expect from English publishers, that the American copyright notice would be included in the English edition; but the English publishers have not always fulfilled this condition, and it has not been thought by American publishers a matter of moment. Of course, a decision that the omission of the American copyright notice on an authorized English edition vitiated American copyright would be of great importance, and the issue of the present case, which is pending at Chicago in the Circuit Court of the United States for the northern division of the Northern District of Illinois, will be looked for with great interest.

There can scarcely be two opinions, we think, that the new law should make clear that no extra-territorial omission of an American copyright notice should affect the American copyright. The contrary principle would tend to require that a book should be plastered over with a copyright notice of every nation in which copyright might be entered, and would seem to have no justification in necessity or good principle.

As to the prime question before the trade, the legality or morality of the photographic reprint of this particular Webster's Dictionary, we should say that there is little room for difference of opinion, at least on the latter point. The matter is not parallel with the use of the word "Webster" on a dictionary which embodies the material of the early Webster's Dictionary, now out of copyright, and extends that with original additions, as is claimed to be the case with Mr. Ogilvie's "Webster's Imperial Dictionary." Whether there are other elements in that case as to "unfair competition" by copying circulars and otherwise, should presently be decided in Boston. But the photographic reprint of the smaller dictionary is a flat case of piracy which takes us back to the old days before 1891, when English novels were pirated galore, and we cannot advise the retail trade to look favorably upon this enterprise, whichever way their sympathies may be in regard to the "Imperial Dictionary."

THE latest phase of the dictionary war is in Wisconsin, where there has been a law on the statute books making "Webster's International Dictionary" or its congeners the standard work to be used throughout the school system. A proviso for the repeal of this law has passed the Assembly and is now pending in the Senate, and the rival Websterians are "lined up," pro and con, at the State Capitol. It is difficult to see why legislation should go so far as to confine school purchases to the publications of any single house.

"'SUPERIOR' SCHOOL TABLETS" RESTRAINED.

In the suit of Solomon W. Johnson, as president of the American News Company, N. Y., in the Monroe Equity Term, Supreme Court, Judge Foote handed down an opinion to the effect that "plaintiff is entitled to judgment enjoining the defendant from further manufacture and sale of tablets of the style and form made by him prior to . . . the spring of 1904, or of any other tablet so nearly resembling plaintiff's tablets as to be likely to be accepted by purchasers as tablets of the plaintiff's manufacture." The action was brought to restrain the plaintiff from manufacturing pads of writing paper gotten up in size, design and color to imitate the "Paragon School Tablet" manufactured by the American News Company.

AN IMPORTANT LAW PUBLICATION.

THE STATUTE LAW BOOK COMPANY, Washington, D. C., has just completed its largest and most important reproduction of early laws, which is also, so far as known, the largest facsimile of American statute laws ever made by any one. The work referred to is a photo-facsimile of the session laws of the State of New Hampshire for the years 1780 to 1789, inclusive, as printed (in 24 separately printed pieces, folio) by the official printers of the State, to form supplements to the 1780 edition of the laws, and comprises the complete legislation of the State of New Hampshire, as printed in the regular series of session laws, passed between the last folio edition of the statutes, (1780,) and the first octavo edition, (1789.)

It is hardly necessary to call attention to either the historical or legal importance of the legislation of this period, covering, as it does, the last three or four years of the Revolutionary War and the first six or seven years of peace.

There are only three collections of these laws which are complete, one in the New Hampshire State Library, one in the Library of Congress, and one in private hands, and of these three only two are complete in the originals—that in the Library of Congress having been completed by facsimiles. There are only seven other collections, all of them fragmentary, making only ten existing col-

This series is fully as interesting from a bibliographical as from an historical or a legal point of view, and this reproduction is, therefore, accompanied by a bibliographical note of considerable length, which is the result of examinations of every known copy of the series, begun by Mr. Cole in 1890 and continued, as opportunity offered, until the present time. The edition of this reprint has been limited to twenty-five copies.

BOOKS IN DEMAND IN ENGLAND.

According to The Book Monthly the following books sold best in London during May:

"Rose of the World," by Agnes and Egerton

Castle.

"The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne," by W. J. Locke.

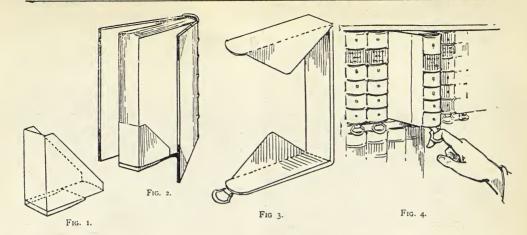

"A Dark Lantern," by Elizabeth Robins.
"Patricia: a Mother," by "Iota."
"The Millionaire Baby," by Anna Katharine

"The Wise Woods," by Mrs. Henry Dudeney. "The Soul of London," by Ford Maddox Hueffer

"Highways and Byways of Derbyshire," by J. B. Frith.

IMMORTAL BOOKS.

"An immortal work, in the modern sense of 'immortal,' " says Walter Frewen Lord, in the Nincteenth Century, "will be read for twenty-five years, quoted for another twentyfive, and referred to for another half century, by which time its ideas will have become commonplaces.'

SHELVING AND PRESERVING HEAVY BOOKS.

THERE is a tendency for the leaves of large and heavy books standing on a library shelf to sag or drop forward on their square and drag on the upper part of the back, eventually destroying the shape of the book. This difficulty Mr. Cedric Chivers, the well-known bookbinder, suggests may be obviated by the use of a shoe similar to that shown in figure I. The method of placing it on the book is shown by the diagram in figure 2. Figure 3 shows another form of this support which is placed all round the leaves of a book and carries a ring at its base for the easier removal of a heavy book from the shelf. figure 4 is shown a device which illustrates an advantage on the usual method of pulling a heavy quarto or folio from its place by the headband. This contrivance also of-fers the additional advantage of protecting the book from dust on its top edge.

HIGH PRICES FOR OSCAR WILDE'S MSS.

REMARKABLY high prices for autograph manuscripts of Oscar Wilde were the most interesting feature of the sale of the library of Richard Le Gallienne by the Anderson Company on June 8.

The highest price of the entire sale was $1320 for two volumes, 16mo, London, 1874. of the Oxford edition of Herodotus, the Greek text, interleaved to 8vo size and containing many notes, passages translated, etc., in the handwriting of Oscar Wilde.

In all there were sixteen Wilde items.

Some of the others sold as follows:

"Salome: Drame en un Acte," post 8vo, paper, 84 pages, uncut copy, with autograph inscription from Wilde on the title, $120. This play was accepted by Sarah Bernhardt, but the Lord Chamberlain refused the license.

Original manuscript of Wilde's story, "The Birthday of the Little Princess," 36 pages folio, signed in full, and with author's signature written on the reverse of the last page, $365.

Original manuscript of Wilde's essay "On the Decay of Lying," written on 20 folio pages, with corrections, alterations, additions, etc., $375. This is the well-known brilliant essay in which Wilde criticises R. L. Stevenson, Rider Haggard and other authors.

Original manuscripts of Wilde's "Dogmas," four pages folio, $250. In No. VII. of these "Dogmas" Wilde says: "There is no such thing as a moral or an immoral book. Books are either well written or bady written. That is all."

PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

"CAN the civilization of a country be gauged by the number of its periodicals?" the London Academy recently queried, and continued: "If so, America is indeed making culture hum. The latest 'Newspaper Annual just issued in the United States, [by N. W. Ayer & Sons,] shows that there exist in that country no less than 22,312 periodicals, or approximately one for every 3400 inhabitants. In Germany, on the other hand, where there are more periodicals in comparison with the population than in any other European State, there is one periodical for every 7500 inhabitants; while in the United Kingdom there is, roughly speaking, one to each 9000. The United States, with a population of seventy millions, has absolutely more periodicals than the whole of Europe, which has perhaps four hundred million inhabitants.

"Equally remarkable is the number of languages represented in the publications of the great Republic sometimes humorously called 'Anglo-Saxon.' Apart from the English periodicals, no less than forty languages and dialects have their magazines and newspapers. German easily heads the list. Then, a long way behind, comes French. After that, with a fair representation, follow Czech, Dutch, Hebrew, Italian, Norwegian, Polish, Spanish, Swedish and Portuguese; while at the tail cond of the list come Arabic, Armenian, Chinese, Finnish, Gaelic, Hungarian, Icelandic, Japanese, Lithuanian, Russian, Servian, Slovenian and Welsh. Even the Redskins have a paper, and Latin lives in a Boston monthly,

the Classical Review.'

PRINTING IN JAPAN.

In the current number of the Chicago Inland Printer, E. R. Peacock, of Melbourne, Australia, describes the wonderful progress made by the Japanese in typefounding and printing. Contrasting the Japanese printing office of thirty years ago with that of to-day, he tells the story of a remarkable national achievement.

The first picture, that of the old-time Japanese printing office, shows the shop, about twelve feet square, open to the street. The printer was working on a wrapper for stock, printed in gold and three colors. No types were used, the printing being done from wood blocks. "The design was drawn out, the various colors separated, and each color engraved on different parts of the same block, about II x 15 inches, both sides being used. The printer, squat on the floor, held the block between his knees, slanting against his chest; he applied the ink with a brush, laid his sheet to lay-marks on the block, and took his impression by rubbing the back of the paper with a round, flat disk. In dif-ferent parts of the block were the engrav-ings of the different colors. While the gold was being printed the other parts had a piece of paper stuck over them to prevent them printing, and so skilfully was the inking done that very little got beyond the actual printing limit."

In this way millions of serviettes and picwith minor improvements conducing to increased facility of handling and rapidity of execution, is used in many of the smaller inland towns to-day. So expert are the workers and so economically is the process carried out that the printing can be done at the rate of 400 copies an hour.

To-day, however, says this writer, Japan possesses "printing offices equipped with the finest machinery made in Europe," and the Japanese "publish hundreds of newspapers daily, and thousands of books every year the biggest firms in the world. . . . I was told by an agent of the Bible Society that a Japanese firm had tendered for printing and binding the English Bible in Japan, and shipping them, paying all charges, landing them in New York for 20 per cent. less than they can be produced in America."

The pioneer typefounder and printer of modern Japan was Motogi Nagahisa, born in 1824. As a commercial interpreter he learned something about the Western world, and, foreseeing the time when Japan would be compelled to throw open her ports to commerce, he understood the necessity that would fall upon her of acquiring a knowledge of Western arts and sciences. He did much to familiarize his people with the use of steam engines, but his greatest and most distinctive service to his country was rendered when, in the eighth decade of the century, he established the first Japanese type foundry at Nagasaki.

Most interesting is the description of a representative Japanese office of to-day, with the work done in English and with the Japanese characters; and significant of the irrepressible spirit of this new-old people of the East is their conquest of the difficulties of one of our finest inventions, and their rapid and complete mastery of its mysteries.

TABARD INN PRESS FOR SALE.

THE receivers of the Tabard Inn Press have concluded that it would be to the best interests of the estate to ask for sealed bids for the whole or any part of the plant of that company, before asking the court for leave to sell the property at public sale. They will mail a catalogue to all of the principal printers and dealers in printers' supplies in the chief Eastern States as well as in Philadelphia. They will receive bids until Saturday, July 1, at 12 o'clock noon. If the bids received by the receivers do not aggregate an amount which they think fairly represents the value of the plant, the bids will be rejected and a public sale ordered by the court. Due notice of the sale will be sent to all creditors and dealers.

COMMUNICATIONS.

LOOK OUT FOR FRAUD ORDERS. To the Booktrade:

We are informed that attempts are being made to obtain goods on fraudulent orders bearing our name. These orders are entirely different in form from our regular orders and contain on their upper left hand corner a very erroneous list of the officers of our company. We would advise you to deliver no goods for our account except in the receipt of our regular and well-known order blanks that come to you through our regular channels. THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY,

NEW YORK CITY, June 7, 1905.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

CHARLES H. KERR & Co., of Chicago, have taken over the Comrade, formerly published in New York, and have combined it with their International Socialist Review, which with its June issue completes its fifth year.

THE Publishers' Trade Announcements: the Newsagents' and Booksellers' Order Guide, is the title of a new trade journal for newsdealers and those who handle low-priced paper-covered fiction published by G. R. Pain, 34 Kennington Oval, London, Eng. The first number is dated June, 1905, and the price of each number is one penny,

THE June issue of Printing Art is an unusually attractive number from a pictorial as a well as literary point of view. J. Horace McFarland has contributed an interesting article on the "Importance of Education in Printing;" W. A. Bradley has something to say on "What Are the Dangers of Originalsay on What Are the Dangers of Originality?' and there are unsigned articles on "Italic Types and Their Uses," illustrated by early and modern examples; the "Border Treatment of Illustrations," "Examples of Design and Typography," editorial comments and current news. The art inserts and its various departments, its modern apparatus, | supplements are instructive and attractive.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

Miss Blanche McManus, well-known as one of the most artistic present-day designers and illustrators of books, can employ her pencils in other uses than in the sketches and designs which are so beautifully executed. For the last several years she has been spending her time between France and England with the result that she has become very interested in the different types of life in these countries, and has written a book on English child life and one on French child life. These books will be published this month by L. C. Page & Co. in their Little Cousin series under the titles of "Our Little French Cousin" and "Our Little English Cousin." Miss McManus has also designed the covers and made all the illustrations for these little books, which will prove to be most valuable additions to this popular series.

Charles Wagner, author of "The Simple Life," is still engaged in "strongly writing his 'American Impressions.'" Realizing this time the importance of copyright he is bound that the new book shall be properly protected; and his vivid use of recently-acquired English makes his comment on literary pirates sound like a whisper in melodrama: "The robbers' eyes are always open to steal." In evidence of the spontaneous and straightfrom-the-heart way he does his writing, comes his statement that "the book is not symmetric. I say what I have to say, without taking measure." "It is delightful," he goes on. "from the window of my little cell where I work like a monk, I do not see anything but trees and turf. The summer is coming and, as outburst the leaf and flowers, all my American days come back to me. It is the very time to build the book."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

H. Le Soudier, 174 Boulevard Saint-Germain, Paris, has just published his useful handbook, the "Annuaire de la Librairie Francaise" for 1905. The present is the probability of the prob twelfth annual issue, and is very much en-larged and improved. It gives a list of the officers and members of various booktrade organizations, such as the Cercle de la Librairie, the music publishers, typographers, paper makers, etc.; an alphabetical list of the publishers, booksellers, etc., of France and its colonies, and the same information arranged by cities, and also under specialties; a list of French trade journals representing the book, printing, papermaking and other kindred trades; the press, postal and copyright laws; a list of civil officers, consulates, etc., and other information of use to the bookseller. A biographical sketch of the firm of Hetzel, with two excellent portraits-of Pierre Jules Hetzel and Jules Hetzel-preface the volume. $(xii+460 p. 8^{\circ}, cl., 5fr.)$

From the office of The Publisher and Retailer, 24 East Twenty-first Street, New York City, has been published a useful aid to dealers in paper-covered books, entitled "Price's Catalogue of Paper-Covered Books," prepared by Warren Elbridge Price, editor of The Publisher and Retailer, who published a similar work in 1894. The aim of the compiler has been not to prepare an elaborate bibliography, but simply a list to enable the everyday bookseller to locate the edition, the name and address of the publisher and the price of any paper-bound book now in print in America, which from this work we should estimate to be about 20,000. Preceding the list Mr. Price gives a list of 128 libraries and series with the names of publishers and prices; also, a list of the publishers whose lists are catalogued, with street addresses. The book is printed on good stout paper, thumb-indexed and is substantially bound in cloth with leather back and corners. (8+272 p. 8°.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

D. Appleton & Co. will bring out in the Fall John Oliver Hobbes's new story, "The Flute of Pan."

W. A. WILDE COMPANY will publish in August a Madonna Calendar for 1906. will have reproductions of three of the most famous pictures of the Madonna, in the colors of the originals, (II x 14 inches,) mounted in an attractive way.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has reissued "The Gospel of Common Sense," by the late Rev. Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, New York. It is a series of practical essays on the Epistle of St. James, and bears a unique dedication to Bishop Potter and Rabbi Gottheil, as representative types of that saint.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have in preparation a new volume by Ralph Waldo Trine. whose "In Tune with the Infinite" has been published in translations in eight different countries. The new book, upon which the author has been engaged for three years, will deal with matters of present social and eco-nomic interest "from the standpoint of the great common people."

WILLIAM DOXEY, who recently disposed of his interests in the Cushing Company, and established himself in the book business in the Equitable Building, Baltimore, Md., will open up an office for the sale of rare books at 26 Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, London, and will make his headquarters there during August and September. While abroad Mr. Doxey will select books for his holiday trade in this country, and will be pleased to make purchases for others.

THE LITERARY COLLECTOR PRESS, Greenwich, Conn., announces a volume entitled "Old Time Wall Papers," by Kate Sanborn, giving a history of wall hangings and of the processes and development of wall paper making from the earliest recorded times to the last century. The volume will be illustrated with about 100 plates and vignettes, some in color, reproduced from rare specimens of early papers and photographs of the interiors of Colonial houses.

G. Schirmer, New York, has published a volume of sixty-five "Songs of Italy," collected and edited by Eduardo Marzo, and translated into English by Dr. Theodore Baker. Traditional songs have been preferred by the editor, but where such were not procurable songs of a more modern character have been included, but only such as have become genuinely and deservedly pop-ular among all classes. Interesting explana-tory notes are given of the songs.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY will soon publish "An Elizabethan Virginal Book," by Edward W. Naylor, organist and lecturer at Emanuel College, Cambridge, Eng., a critical essay on the fine collection of Clavier music in the Fitzwilliam Museum at Cambridge, known as the "Fitzwilliam Virginal Book." They will publish at the same time. "The Rhymer's Lexicon," by Andrew Loring, a rhyming dictionary after a new plan, with an introduction by Professor George Saintsbury.

G. P. Putnam's Sons have just ready a two-volume work on "The Jordan Valley and Petra," by Professor of Physical Geography in Princeton William Libbey and Dr. Franklin E. Hoskins, who has been missionary in Syria for several years. Though principally written for archæologists, the record of a journey through the valley of the Jordan and then southward to the little-known region of Petra, will also have interest to the lav reader and student of the Holy Land.

W. N. HARTSHORN, 120 Boylston Street, Boston, has just issued Archibald Forder's "Ventures Among the Arabs," an entertaining and instructive story of the personal experiences of Mr. Forder during thirteen years of missionary life among the Ishmaelites of Moab, Edom and Arabia, in desert, tent and town. Mr. Forder, who is now in this country, is the pioneer missionary to Northern Arabia, and his book reads like a romance. It is illustrated by fifty pictures from Mr. Forder's own negatives and is handsomely bound in cloth.

H. M. CALDWELL & Co. have in preparation a pseudo-nautical book, by Bert Leston Taylor, to be entitled "The Log of the Water Wagon," which in an amusing way records the doings of that good craft; "In Bohemia," a collection of verses by various hands; also, three shape books—"The Christmas Carol," shaped like a bell; "Love's Garland," a collection of the posies engraved in rings in the Tudor days, shaped like a ring; and "The Automobilier," a collection of verse celebrating the pleasures of the gasoline wagon, shaped like an automobile.

RAPHAEL TUCK & Sons Co. have laid the collector of picture post-cards under heavy obligations by the issue of the Wide, Wide World series produced in their famous "Oilette" process. The series comprises twelve sets showing views of New York's ghetto, Coney Island, Paris, London, the Holy Land, India, etc., each picture being reproduced direct from either an original oil painting or water color drawing. Each post-card contains a terse description of the view it presents, adding an educational feature that will make the cards doubly interesting and val-

W. B. SAUNDERS & Co. have just brought out a volume of "Addresses and Other Papers," by Dr. W. W. Keen, whose activities have covered a wide field of subjects relating not only to medicine, but to public affairs and the relations one to the other. The addresses included in the book are all selected from those delivered to the general public, and refer to such topics as "Vivisection," "Medicine as a Career," "Endowment of Medical Schools," "Debt of the Public to the Medical Public to the Medical Career," "Book of the Career," "Endowment of Medical Schools," "Debt of the Public to the Medical Career," "Book of the Career," "Book of the Career," "The Medical Career," "The Me Profession," and "Reminiscences of the Civil War." Incidentally he tells many ancdotes of distinguished people whom he knew or interviewed.

HURST & Co., New York, are offering to the trade for the fall market a larger and finer line than ever. A number of additions have been made to their Burnt Leather Edition of the Poets and to their Burnt Leather Classics, well made books with artistic designs to simulate pyrographic work.

Almonte Library of popular fiction has been enlarged with a number of new titles and makes a very attractive inexpensive set of books. Their new catalogue is just ready, and should be carefully studied by dealers in need of inexpensive but well-made editions. The general index to their new fall catalogue points to fifty separate series aggregating about 5000 titles.

George W. Jacobs & Co., Philadelphia, have just issued a timely volume by Dr. Lyman Abbott, entitled "The Industrial Problem." The volume is divided into four sections, dealing respectively with the Industrial Problem; the Political Solution—Regulation; the Economic Solution—Reorganization; and the Ethical Solution—Regeneration. Dr. Abbott has a masterly grasp of his subject and presents his observations, his deductions and his theories in such a way that all thinking men and women must give them earnest consideration. His aim is to demonstrate that not in any legislative adjustment, not in any rearrangement of the world of industry, but only in a complete social regeneration lies the true solution of the industrial problem.

A. C. McClurg & Co. are the selling agents of the "Homophonic Vocabulary," by Charles B. Waite, and published by C. V. Waite & Co., of Chicago. The author claims that the first step toward a universal language should be a common language for the Indo-Germanic family, and that this common language must be based upon words already in common use by those who are asked to adopt it. In his search for such words among the English, French, Portuguese, Italian, German, Dutch, Danish-Norwegian, Swedish and Russian languages Mr. Waite has actually found 2000 words in common use having a like sound and a like signification. This list, carefully revised and corrected, is presented as the basis for common root words upon which a common language for the Indo-Germanic family may be constructed.

James Pott & Co. will bring out in September a new humorous book by Charles Battell Loomis, to be entitled "Thoughts of a Non-Thinker," in which the author of "Cheerful Americans," offers gratuitous advice to those about to marry; to those repenting of having married; to those cursed with (and by) children; to the stranger within the gate, etc. They will publish at the same time a new book by David Graham Phillips, to be entitled "The Reign of Gilt," which is a book of fact, not fiction. In it Mr. Phillips states for the first time, as coming from him directly, rather than from the lips of some of his created characters, his strongest beliefs and controlling purposes. He has written in language almost more vivid and compelling than that of any of his brilliant novels, an arraignment of the American idolatry of wealth.

G. P. Putnam's Sons have made arrangements to publish in this country The University Review, "published for the benefit of the Students' Representative Organizations of the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland." The periodical will appeal to the alumni of the English universities wherever they may be, and therefore it is expected that it will also have a special value to a goodly number of those in this country who retain an interest in their university homes across the seas in particular, and in university development in general. The first number, dated May, contains contributions by the Rt. Hon. James Bryce, M.P., Professors Arthur Schuster, Sonnenschein, Ronald Ross, Churten Collins and Sir Oliver Lodge. News of the universities and colleges and book reviews complete the number, which is sold at 20 cents the single copy.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just brought out a "Text-Book on Physics," an elementary book intended for the higher grammar grades or the early part of the high school course, by J. A. Culler, Professor of Physics in Miami University. As it appears to the author of this book the source of nearly all the difficulty in teaching physics in the high school arises from the fact that in physics, as presented in the third or fourth year of the high school course, more new ideas and new methods of thought and expression are thrust upon the student at one time than in any other branch taught. The present book is intended to remedy this difficulty by the gradual introduction of the knowledge of physics in earlier years in the high school course. E. F. Benson, the author of "The Challoners," has read the last of the proof of his new novel, which J. B. Lippincott Company will issue about July I. The story has to do with the mystical, and is said by those who have read the manuscript to be the best writing which Mr. Benson has yet done, and comparable only in the quality of its workmanship with his very successful "Challoners."

Frederick A. Stokes Company have in preparation a volume to be entitled "The Siege of the South Pole," by Dr. H. R. Mill, who has collected into this volume, in consecutive form, a vast amount of material-in fact everything from the speculations of the ancients in regard to the Great Southern Ocean to the twentieth century explorations of Nordenskjold, Bruce and Scott. After the opening chapters, the real story opens with the voyages of Captain James Cook and the valuable data collected by the American whalers during the latter part of the eighteenth and the beginning of the nineteenth century. Then follow chapters on the work of Bellingshausen, Weddell, the Enderbys and others, leading up to the great interest in Antarctic explorations that mani-fested itself toward the end of the first half of the nineteenth century, a period represented by such names as Durville, for the French; Lieutenant Charles Wilkes, of the United States Exploring Expedition, and James Clark Ross, of Erebus and Terror fame. The revival of interest through Sir John Murray's work in M. H. S. Challenger, the voyages of Gerlache, Borchgrevink and Drygalski, and as has been mentioned of Nordenskjold, Bruce and Scott, bring the narrative down to latest possible date. The volume will be illustrated from photographs and engravings, and contains many maps and charts and other helps to the reader.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready the "Letters of Richard Wagner to Mathilde Wesendonck," translated by William Ashton Ellis. This book has made a great sensation in Germany, where it has already reached its eighth edition in the course of three months, an unheard-of experience in Wagner literature. The letters are remarkable in every way, not only because they throw a most interesting light on a very important period of Wagner's life, but also because of their own beauty and literary quality. It was during his acquaintance with Frau Wesendonck and under her inspiration that Wagner planned his Tristan and Isolde, and the letters give a most vivid and illuminating idea of the conception and growth of that marvellous work. They have also just brought out an elaborate and handsomely illustrated book on "The History of Ancient Pottery." It is written by H. B. Walters and based on the work of Samuel Buck-once the standard work on the subject which has been superseded by the remarkable discoveries made in this particular branch of ancient pottery during recent years. The work is in two volumes with more than three hundred illustrations, including a number of plates in color. They have also just ready a book intended for first-year high school students, on "Elementary English Composition," by F. H. Sykes, Professor of the Teachers' College at Columbia University. The work has been adopted by the Board of Education of the State of Mississippi.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY has nearly ready "Heretics," by Gilbert K. Chesterton, in which the author deals in particular, and at large, with the heresies of Rudyard Kipling, W. B. Yeats, H. G. Wells, George Bernard Shaw and others. They have just ready "Memoirs of a Royal Chaplain, 1729-1763," the correspondence of Dr. Edmund Pyle, Domestic Chaplain to George II. of England, with Dr. Samuel Kerrich, Vicar or Dersingham. Dr. Pyle, a Whig of the deepest dye, was so situated in the world deepest dye, was so situated in the world because the pays he of politics and literature that the news he transmitted with such regularity to his friend, the Rev. Dr. Samuel Kerrich, cast away upon the sandy dunes of Dersingham, is remarkable, both from its interest and accuracy, as well as for the racy language in which it is conveyed. The volume has been edited by Albert Hartshorne, and contains portraits and other illustrations. They have also just brought out "The Book of the Scented Garden," a new volume in the Handbooks of Practical Gardening, by F. W. Burbridge, treating of the perfume-yielding species: "Peace, and Other Poems," by Arthur C. Benson, also a collection of the poems of Ernest Dowson: "Hysteria and Neurastheria," by Dr. J. Mitchell Clarke, in the series of Practitioner's Handbooks, edited by Harry Roberts; Disraeli's "Venetia" and "Contarini Fleming," in the New Pocket Library; a biography of "Joseph Joachim," by J. A. Fuller Maitland, a new volume in the Living Masters of Music series; "Musical Studies," by Ernest Newman; also, an essay on "What is Philosophy?" by Edmund Holmes, who deals with the ethics of philosophy from a new point of view.

Salt Lake City, Utah.—A. R. Derge & Co., booksellers, have been succeeded by D. A. Callahan, who has been in the book business here for seven years. Mr. Derge will remain with the new concern until the end of the year, and requests that settement of accounts outstanding up to June I be made to him at the earliest possible moment.

PICK-UPS.

LITERARY.—Arabella: Oh, oh! Gertrude Atherton has dedicated a book to Henry James! Isabella: Serves him right.—Life.

First Magazine Editor: What circulation do you claim? Second Magazine Editor: Two millions. F. M. E.: Isn't that too much? S. M. E.: Heavens, no! Why, we really have twenty thousand.

CONGENIAL SPIRITS.—Billce Goat: I'm awfully fond of novels Nanette Goat: Don't you know, our tastes run in the same literary groove! Which do you find the six best digesters?—Puck.

"Another Story."—Book Agent.—Is Billings still selling that book "How to Live on Fifty Cents a Day?"—Standard Work Peddler.—No; he didn't make over $4 a day selling it, and he couldn't live on that, you know.—Puck.

A New Thing in Missouri.—A Missouri newspaper has published the Ten Commandments by request. This literary selection is a new thing in Missouri, and there are indications that it will have a great run. It is already attracting the attention of some of the sensational ministers in that State, and the discovery that the commandments are not copyrighted will allow all the little weeklies to make a strong feature of them. The best plan for Missouri would seem to be to run the ten as a serial and give the people about half of one at a dose. They would never be able to take the two tablets as they were delivered to Moses without fatal results.—

Breaking Home Ties

THIS beautiful poem, by the author of "A Prayer," is written in easy-flowing blank verse. It was founded on Thomas Hovenden's famous picture, and opens with the old man talking to his son as the twilight of evening is coming on. The Terre Haute Star says:

"No more beautiful lines have been penned in this middle western country than those spoken by the mother to the son—especially where she says:

'My son, my son,
Remember what I've said to you and still
Say o'er again. 'Twould break my heart, now old,
Should you ignobly live. Hold high your head
And be an honest man. May kindness guide
Your daily steps, and in each deed and thought
Let Christ's sweet soul always reflect itself,
And love your fellow men as I love you.
May words unkind and false ne'er pass your lips,
Nor harsh and low ambitions drive you on.
My memory is saddened with the scenes
Of other years, for o'er departed joy
I weep and smile at faded sorrow's tears.
How many times in hallowed evening hours,
When night's soft silver light crept o'er your face,
Long years before you understood my love.
I've pressed you to my naked breast and prayed
Our God to spare my boy from pitfalls dark;
For your warm baby's cheek was part of me!'

"Prophecy is probably worth very little, but in our observation no poem has appeared in America to be compared with this. One of the New York papers recently called it the finest piece of writing that had come out of the West for some time. Unlike the novels of the day it will grow in interest."

Mother Stork's Baby Book

MORE praise for this beautiful record book of a baby's life is being received each day. The Halifax Herald says:

"This elegant book is one of the most exquisite productions of mechanical skill that has been issued this season. Every page is artistically illustrated by Albertine Randall Wheelan, and the verses are by such noted writers as Eugene Field and Robert Louis Stevenson."

(Cloth, $2.00; Silk, $3.50)

What to Have for Luncheon

THIS is a book of 244 pages, beautifully bound and illustrated. In addition to the countless recipes by Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln, the well-known authority, it contains many suggestions for the serving of both formal and informal luncheons. Hints and ideas for table decoration and arrangement are also given.

The recipes are all thoroughly practical, and entirely free from any extravagance that would make them prohibitive in homes of moderate means.

THE AMERICAN CATALOG 1900-1905

The American Catalogue, issued heretofore in quarto volumes, is this year succeeded by the new American Catalog in octavo size, covering five years, January 1, 1900, to January 1, 1905. It will be continued by a corresponding publication every five years hereafter.

The new volume is a final cumulation of the titles given in the Publishers' Weekly system of record by author, title, subject and series entries. Under this system author entries are designated by full-face type, title entries by ordinary Roman lower-case, subject entries by small caps, and series entries by italics, so that the system has the advantages of the dictionary catalog with the advantages of distinctive author, title, subject, and series alphabets. Each entry gives author's name, title, date of publication, series name, size, price, and publisher. Thus the leading facts regarding the book are put immediately at the service of the seeker.

This volume takes the place this year of the "Annual American Catalog" which will be resumed in 1906.

¶ If demand should justify, and not otherwise, it is proposed to complement this Five-year Catalog with a supplementary volume, giving the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of the Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i. e., into five alphabets. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, book-dealers, and others who want the full material of the Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape.

¶ Both volumes will be substantially bound in half morocco, similar to the old American Catalogue. The price is $10 for the two together, or $6 for either separately. Subscribers are requested to send in orders promptly, stating whether both volumes are desired or only the first.

I The first volume is now ready; the second volume, if demanded, will be published later in the year. The edition in both cases is limited to the indicated demand.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Owing to the increase in size and cost, the price of Vol. I. will be advanced July 1 to $7.50 per copy; the set from $10. to $12.

THE CRIMSON BLIND, by Fred M. White

"'The Crimson Blind,' by Fred M. White, is one of the best written and most intensely interesting stories of its kind, and should be classified as a detective story, although no professional detective is introduced. The central figure is a villain who, by his machinations, has estranged the members of a family, and brought them to the verge of ruin and despair. It is also the story of how a beautiful young girl tracked the villain and finally brought him to a well-merited end. Of course in exposing the villain our heroine brings together those whom his machinations had estranged, and all ends happily. This a story of action, of plot and counterplot, and the interest is intense from start to finish."-Chicago Record-Herald, June 7, 1905.

PICTURE 10c.

Painted by L. BALESTRIERI of Paris

This well-known and beautiful picture has attracted much attention of late, and in the sepia and black reproductions of it which we offer to the public at the retail price of 10 cents, unmounted, it is found very attractive. The picture is $g\frac{1}{2}$ inches high by 20 inches wide.

PRICES

To retailers (art-stores, booksellers, newsdealers, stationers, etc.,) we offer these pictures on sale for 30 days at $6.00 per package of 100 pictures, delivered free anywhere in the United States.

To wholesalers or to those ordering 1,000 to 10,000 pictures at a time, we make the price $40.00 per 1,000. 10,000 ordered at one time, $35.00 per 1,000. 100,000, $30.00 per 1,000.

Unless otherwise ordered, the pictures are put up in packages of 100 each, 75 sepia and 25 black, besides two mounted pictures for display purposes.

Prices on special lots, and also on framed pictures, passe-partout or oak, furnished on request. A sample copy will be sent in a mailing-tube, post-paid, on receipt of 20 cents in stamps.

The Best Key to Educational Books.

American Educational Catalogue

For 1905,

whose value to the trade is proved by the fact that it is now in its thirty-sixth year, and that claims to be the best practical aid to the dealer in or buyer of school books.

Thousands of Copies are Sold Every Season,

With its alphabetical arrangement by authors, its separate class-index, carefully sub-classified to an extent not followed by any other catalogue, its completeness and accuracy, it is presented as the best finding-list, the most complete order-list, and the most satisfactory class-catalogue for school use.

The catalogue is made entirely new each year, to omit books which have dropped out of use and to include all live books, and all new books (ready or to be ready for the Fall) are added in their proper alphabetical place.

The page giving the key to publishers will not be given in imprint editions unless specially ordered.

This Catalogue is specially planned to be of service for circulation by retailers among schools and private buyers. The imprint edition possesses not only temporary value, but will serve its purpose during the whole year. No imprint edition of less than 100 copies can be supplied. Orders for editions should be sent to us at once.

TERMS:

Imprint edition—without publishers' advertisements:

With sole imprint of ordering firm, and stitched, per 100 copies, $5.00; per 1000, $40.00, net cash.

There is no extra charge for printing name, business card, etc., on the imprint page; the last page is left blank at the disposal of the dealer, but any copy for that page, advertising special lines or general business, will be set up and printed thereon for $5.00, or for $1.00 if plate is sent.

Copy for imprint and shipping directions should accompany the order.

The regular Educational Number of "The Publishers' Weekly" bound in leatherette boards will be supplied at 50 cents per copy.

STEWART EDWARD WHITE'S

Books are Always in Demand You can honestly recommend them at anytime-especially now-when your customers want COOD BOOKS for SUMMER READING

MOUNTAINS THE FOREST

The two above books tell the story of the Forest and the Mountain. It is enough to say that they are written by Stewart Edward White to convince anyone of their delightfulness. They are full of help if one spends his vacation in the woods or in the mountains. But no matter where or how he spends the summer—be sure to have him include these books in his plans. He will never regret it. Both books are illustrated.
